ABSTRACT

This loose-leaf directory of California state agency libraries and information sources lists names of senior staff, address, telephone number, hours, subject strengths, circulation policies, and services of more than 150 libraries and information centers within the California state government. The information was collected through questionnaires and telephone calls. Directory entries are arranged by agency and then department title. Individual library and information center names, as well as library directors' names, are included in the indexes. Libraries which have ceased operation since the first edition in 1979 are listed at the end. Introductory material on the California State Library includes: a description of the history and mission of the library, a directory of State Library supervising staff; descriptions of the State Library's services; and a list and description of collections and specialized collections of the library. PREFACE

CAL INFO provides access to the many and varied libraries and information centers within California state government. In times of increasing competition for funding, it is even more important to be able to call on the full range of state government's information resources. I'm very pleased that the California State Library has been able to produce this entirely new edition.

The information provided includes subject strengths and special collections; who may use the library and how -- whether the library is open to all state employees or serves only its own department, for example; names, addresses and phone numbers. More than just a directory listing, CAL INFO is a guide to specialized information resources and how to access them.

INTRODUCTION

CAL INFO, 2nd edition, is an annotated directory listing over 150 libraries and information centers within California state government. The data was gathered through questionnaires and telephone calls. Responses have been edited for uniformity but the information supplied has not been changed. In many instances, the numerical values reported for persons served, collection size and budget are approximate figures.

The first edition was compiled seven years ago, funded by a Title II grant under the Public Works Employment Act. Suzanne Grimshaw, who worked on that first project, ably directed the production of this edition. Donna McNatt and Carol Hammad handled inputting; Richard Terry did the format design. Collin Clark, Library Development Services Bureau, coordinated the initial information gathering with his questionnaires for the California Library Directory. Charlotte Harriss, Susan Hawthorne, Irene Stone and Sheila Thornton provided suggestions and assistance.

> Directory entries are arranged by agency and then department title, as listed in the State of California Telephone Directory. Individual library and information center names, as well as library directors' names, are included in the indexes. Libraries which have ceased operation since the first edition are listed separately at the end.

CAL INFO will be periodically updated. We would appreciate notification of telephone, address and personnel changes, as well as corrections and additions. Please use the CAL INFO Updater sheets included with the directory or contact: Suzanne Grimshaw, California State Library, State Information and Reference Center, 916/322-4570 ATSS: 8-492-4570.

California State Library

The State Library's service mission is to ensure that all people in California may consistently and conveniently obtain the information and library materials they need. The Library carries out this mission by helping people directly, by helping the libraries that serve them and by advocating a public policy that encourages access to information and library materials. Ways in which the Library meets these service goals include programs to provide library services to the Legislature, state agencies and administration; to administer state and federal programs of financial aid to public libraries; to provide consulting and interlibrary services in backup of local libraries; to collect and preserve library materials on California and the West; and to offer special client services to disadvantaged and handicapped citizens.

Established by the first Legislature in 1850, the California State Library is a division of the State Department of Education. The State Librarian is appointed by the Governor and administers the State Library. State Library services are provided from two bureaus, each directed by a chief of service. Library Development Services Bureau is the field arm, including consultants and specialists who work with state institutions, public libraries and systems throughout the state, and local government officials and citizen groups. State Library Services Bureau sections provide services to the public and support the operations of the rest of the State Library. Additional sections, supporting library administration, report to the Assistant State Librarian.

The State Library is housed in five locations:

Administration and most services: Library & Courts Building, 914 Capitol Mall,
Sacramento, CA Mail: P.O. Box 2037, 95809

Library Development services: Ramona Building, 6th and J Streets, Sacramento, CA
Mail: P.O. Box 2037, 95809

On-site services for the Legislature: Capitol Branch, State Capitol, Room 446,
(from March, 1985) Sacramento, CA 95814

Blind and handicapped services: Braille and Talking Book Library, 600 Broadway,
Sacramento, CA 95818

Sutro Library collections: Sutro Library, 480 Winston Drive, San Francisco, CA 94132
(North campus of San Francisco State University)

The collections and services of the State Library are available to all, for in-library use. Materials are circulated to anyone in the state through local libraries by means of interlibrary loan. State officers and employees may borrow materials directly.
